

Hestia Awards for Research in Social Healthcare

Terms and conditions of the 1st edition of the Hestia Awards for Research in Health and Social Care and Mental Health

With this call, the Hestia Chair seeks to recognise the best initiatives from 2016-2017 in the field of health and social care and mental health research aimed at improving the care of complex chronic patients with high social vulnerability.

Categories

Best project or publication: €1,500, and €500 for the runner-up

Best paper at a congress: €600

Best Final Bachelor's or Master's Degree Project: €400

Requirements

Only projects and papers completed in 2016 or 2017 will be accepted. They must focus on aspects related to the provision of health and social care or mental health services or patient or family care in this context.

Projects may be submitted individually or as a group.

Best project or publication: Only completed projects may be submitted.

Particular consideration will be given to projects with results and/or publications, or scientific articles published or PhD theses defended on the topic.

Best paper presented at a congress: Only papers written in English, Spanish or Catalan that have been presented at national or international congresses will be accepted. They may be in poster or oral presentation format.

Best Final Bachelor's or Master's Degree Project: Consideration will be given to projects submitted during the 2015-2016 or 2016-2017 academic years by bachelor's or master's degree students from any discipline related to the topic of the call.
